ENDORSED BY THE COURT OF APPEALS

Which Secures Democratic Control of the State Senate.

THE DEMOCRATS ARE IN HIGH GLEE,

While the Nondescripts Are Gnashing Their Teeth, Clothed in Sackcloth With the Necessary Ashes.

ALBANY, N. Y., December 29 .- [Special.]-The court of appeals today handed down decisions favorable to the democrats in three of the four contested senatorial districts, and directed the state board of canvassers to proceed with the count. This virtually makes the senate demo-ratic 17 to 15. One of the 15, however, will have to be slacted vet, if he can.

Telegrams are pouring in upon Governor Hill from all parts of the state and the union, congratulating him upon the masterly manner in which he has rounded up the ocratic victory in New York.

The news of the decision of the court of appeals, which gives the democrats control of the state senate, was received with genuine joy by the democrats over the Democratic control of the senate means much for the party in this state. It means first that nearly one hundred reablican office holders who have held over since 1880 because a republican senate would not confirm the appointments of a democratic governor, will be removed at once, and demos appointed to succeed them.

By the decision of the court of appeals the demograts will have a majority of one in the senate, counting Edmonds, independent, with the republicans. Edmonds, however, has promised to vote with the democrats for reap-portionment. With his vote it will stand: Democrate 17, republicans 15, but the 15th man has been declared ineligible.

What "the Gang" Is Going to Do. The work of the legislature has already been mapped out by the democratic leaders.

Appropriations will be kept down in order to further reduce taxation, and the business of the session will be disposed of as rapidly as possible. A census of the state will be ordered made early in the spring. It will be an enumeration of the people without any embar-rassing questions. As soon as it is completed, slature will be convened in special ion to make the apportionment based on

They are already threatene or get out of the reach of the t-at-arms, and in that way try to prevent the attendance of a quorum and the organization of the upper house by the democrats. It is not believed, however, that they put this threat into execution. They ed to submitting the contested senate dis tricts to the court of appeals, and it will be bad taste, to say the least of it, to rebel agains the decision. The democrats have no fears of organizing both houses when the legislatur neets next Tuesday.

Just before 2 o'clock, the court of appeals aded down its decision in the four senatorial cases, practically seating John A. Nicholls in-stead of Rufus T. Peck, in the Syracuse district, and Osborne, in the Dutchess district.

TOPEKA. Kan., December 29.-[Special.]give all delegations a hearing, and de this matter," were the words of Governor, apprey to an anxious politician this morning, was running a certain man for United States for. All day his office has been thronged politicians seeking an interview. They were d by 'turns," as in a barber shop or at the sty will. The first candidate to interview the ernor was Major J. K. Hudson, editor of The ska Capital. He secured an audience with the admitted to the private room. They were for exCongressman E. N. Merrill. Later ex-Congressman Peters beaded a delegation for J. W. Ady, United States district attorney. The Perkins forces have scattered, and few of the eighty-five who sounded the governor's ear yesterday, are left, but they are just as confident as ever. Last night Perkins's manager telegraphed him to come to Topeka at once. He immediately left Washington and will arrive tomorrow. The Perkins men have maue a systematic canvass. Hundreds of letters from his old district have poured into the office, besides the thousands for other candidates, none of which Governor Humphry has taken time to read.
The mail trains and telegraph wires into Topeka are kept hot. The governor's clerical force have all they can do to open, arrange and put in proper order. There is no telling when this importuning will close.

Tomorrow Major Hudson's delegation is to be heard at 2 o'clock, and it is stated that if the governor wants to see and hear all of them he will have to hire a hall. The probability is that the governor will get very tired of this systematic besieging and pounding, and he might cut the thing off in short order.

As between Perkins, Hudson and Ady, the hight is exceedingly hot. Either may be appointed, and it is the guess of the best informed that one of them will get the plum. Ex-Governor Anthony is strong, and is being pressed by able men. Whenever Ingalis's name is mentioned, the average republican politician resents and reads the late John James out of the list. The fact is he is not in it, and never has been. His principal support comes from old soldiers in the state and republican papers out of the state. With the polit-clans who are camped in Topeka, he is a dead duck.

Findley was fatally shot tonight by an unknown burglar in front of Coyle & Coyle's store, No. 401 Commerce street, and his fellow officer, James J. Nesper, was shot in the left wrist by the same man. Notwithstanding the injury Nesper succeeded in holding the murderer until assistance cume, when he was taken to the station house. Findley, who was shot in the pit of the stomach, the bullet severing an artery, died soon after being admitted to the hospital. After taking his prisoner to the lockup, Nesper went to the hospital, where his injury was dressed. The prisoner refuses to give his name.

AFFAIRS AT BRICEVILLE.

Free Miners in the Cabins Formerly Occupied by Convicts.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., December 29.—Mr. Eth Wade, superintendent of prisons, arrived in the city today, having just returned from Briceville. Mr. Wade said he could not tell when the convicts would be returned to Briceville, but said they would go to Coal Creek in a few days. Mr. Wade would be returned to Briceville, but said they would go to Coal Creek in a few days. Mr. Wade said that at Briceville he found no accommodations whatever for convicts. The cabins there are occupied by free miners, who are working in the mines. He was informed by Mr. Jenkins, president of the Southern Mining Company, which ownes the mines, that he did not intend to eject a single miner for a convict.

At Coal Creek Mr. Wade said everything is ready for the return of the cenvicts? The officers of the company operating the mines, informed him that the delay of the return of the convicts until after the holidays was wise and they were very glad the convicts had not been sent back.

Another gentleman informed a reporter that he thought the convicts would be returned to Coal Creek tomorrow or next day. He did not know when they would be returned to Briceville. The soldiers are still at the capital. Their forces will be increased by sixteen men who arrived from Chattanooga. These men were sent at once to the post and are drilling with the other soldiers today. There are now sixty-four men besides commissioned officers in the post.

Secretary Blaine Did Not Return to His Office

sult of the Inquiry at Valparaiso.

Admiral Brown Talks. WASHINGTON, December 29 .- This afternoon was absolutely without an incident that could be distorted into a relation to warlike preparations. Secretary Blaine did not return to the department of state after the cabine meeting, and Senor Montt, Chilean minister, did not make his appearance there. No cipher dispatches came from Minister Egan, and the air of quietude in the department strongly ac-centuated the present attitude of the government with respect to Chile as shown by the president's message to congress in this paragraph:

This government is now awaiting the results of an investigation which has been conducted by the criminal court of Valparaiso. It is expected that the result will soon be communicated to this government, together with some adequate and satisfactory response to the note, by which the attention of Chile was called to this incident. If these just expectations should be disappointed or further needless delay intervene, I will, by special message, bring this matter again to the attention of congress for such action as may be necessary.

The Inquiry Not Ended.

The Inquiry Not Ended. Such unofficial advices as have been reauthorities at Valparaiso have not completed the revision of the formal proceedings of Justice Foster. Just how long these legal formalities may be protracted before they may be regarded as causing "further needless delay," is of course determinable only by President Harrison; but there is reason to believe that there has been brought to his attention the difficulties that surround President Montt in the formation of a new cabinet, and that he is also desirous of evading the appearance of endeavoring to interfere with the due process of law in Chile, if there are any reasonable grounds for the assumption that due process is being followed.

Patiently Waiting.

These considerations! redoubtless led him to adopt a new course of patient waiting to the utmost extreme consistent with a due regard to the dignity of the United States, and so far as can be learned it is probable that no departure will be made from this attitude before the reassembling of congress unless further communication from the Chilean gov-ernment should give a different aspect to the situation.

TROUBLE WITH THE TELEGRAPHERS.

They Charge That the East Tennessee Roa Is Discharging Union Men.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., December 29.—[Special.]— Trouble is brewing between the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad Company and its elegraph operators. The telegraphers claim tha the railroad authorities discharge an operator as soon as they learn that he belongs to the Order of Railway Telegraphers. Whatever the real facts of the case are it may be stated that a number of operators have been silently decapitated recently. It seems now about at a climax. The president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers is here today to investigate. The order is strong and has the sympathy of other railway employes' organizations. There is a claim that all roads have agreed on a boycott of the order.

Deputy Sheriff Melton arrived today from Cave Springs, Ga., with Talley Welsh, the murderer of Will Welsh. He makes the following confession:

"On the night of the 4th of July, 1889, I was walking along the Rome and Decatur railroad when I saw a man going along the public road. I hailed the man and asked him his name. He refused to tell, and asked my name. I told him who I was, and asked his name, but he did not tell me, and kept walking up the road. I walked off the road and joined him in the public road. I saw it was Will Welsh. I asked him what he had against me, and why he had quit speaking to me. He said that was his business. When Jesse Taylor was killed, I was in the crowd but did not help kill him. I left and went over on the Tennessee river and ramained in the crowd but did not help kill him. I left and went over on the Tennessee river and ramained away about five months. I returned in June. Had heard that Will Welsh and others had been carrying guns for me. I told Welsh that night what I had heard, and told him I did not like it because he would not speak to me. He said that was his business. I told him the matter had to be settled. He said, Well, then, settle it. I asked him if he was armed. He said no. I told him he had to husb. He said toould not make him hush, and I told him I could, He said to do it and then talk. He walked a little out of the road, and I thought he was trying to pull a pistol. I told him to get back in the road. He got in the road, but got outside again. I told him the thing had to be settled. He said settle it. I pulled my pistol, and I think he turned a little from me. I fired and he fell dead. LAST NIGHT'S PRIZE FIGHT.

McAuliffe Floors Cardiff in the Fifteenth

SAN FRANCISCO, December 29.—Despite a steady downpour of rain, 3,000 people gathered in the New Wigwam tonight to witness:the fight be-tween Patsy Cardiff, of Minneapolis, and Joe Mc-Auliffe, of San Francisco.

McAuliffe had the advantage of several inches in height and was nearly twenty-five pounds heavier than Cardiff, whose weight was 189 pounds. The purse was $1,500, with $350 to loser. In addition to the purse the men had been advanced $250 each for expenses.

Right up to the eleventh round was devoid of the rushing tactics that had been looked for by the sports, and considerable money changed hands on McAuliffe's failure to finish his opponent inside of ten rounds. The fight got brisker, and it was not long before McAnliffe won in the fifteenth round.

NEW YORK, December 29.—Futures opened at three to four points advance, presently declined, three to four points advance, presently declined, afterward improved, closing firm and slightly dearer than yesterday. The early advance was due to the demand to cover contracts, which was prompted by the failure of Liverpool to decline as much as our bears had expected, but as that market continued to give way, the early advance was soon lost. The first report of small receipts at Savannah helped the decline, and the market struggled along at about eight cents for March till the close, when some fresh strength was derived from the small receipts at Memphis, and the stubbornness with which New Orleans maintained her early advance in futures. Notices for delivery on January contracts came out pretty freely, and much of the cotton, when received, will probably be exported. Exchanges were large, and mainly at sixty-two to sixty-three points from January to May. Spot cotton was dull.

To the Georgia Pacific Might Possibly Be Annulled.

A HITCH ABOUT THE DIVIDEND

And It Gives Rise to a Great Many Rumors.

A TALK WITH GENERAL THOMAS

He Expresess Confidence in Terminal, and Says Things Will Come Out All Right.

The city was full of rumors yesterday about the probability of the embarrassment of the Central railroad.

It was stated that there is needed by the Central about eight hundred thousand dollars to meet dividends on the stock of the road, the dividends on the Southwestern railroad stock and other branches and other expenses that have to be met by the 1st. The Terminal managers had flatly re fused, so the rumor was, to furnish the money as they contracted under the lease to do. The prediction was that the dividends on these roads would not be paid and the Central would be default unless some provision was made outside of the regular line to meet the debts due on the 1st of January.

This state of affairs is to be very greatly regretted if it is true. There was considerable excitement in business circles over the report. It was freely stated that it would certainly affect the stock of the Central and all its branches to pay the dividends, and it would not be at all improbable, if the statement that the attack came from the Terminal managers proved true, that the road would go into the hands of a re-

But the situation seems to have been very greatly exaggerated. That the exaggeration, or a great part of it, was for the purpose of effecting stocks there can be no doubt. From reliable sources comes the information that the dividends will be paid as guaranteed; in fact some of it has been paid and the rest will be provided for in a Great efforts have been made lately divert business that properly belongs to this road to West Point, Va., over the Terminal system. It is reported that the attention of the Georgia railroad commission has been called to this fact and that they are going to take a hand in the fight. Mr. Sol Haas, the traffic manager of the Richmond and Danville, is largely interested in West Point, Va., real estate, and he is now virtually the head of the Terminal management. The receipts of cotton over the Central at Savannah are 30,000 bales short as compared to last year's receipts, and the Savannah, Florida and Western is 35,000 bales more than last year's receipts. It was expected when the Central road was leased to the Georgia Pacific that the road would help the system, and probably pull up that dead road, the Georgia Pacific; but it has had the opposite effect and has not increased the business of either road.

WHAT GENERAL THOMAS SAYS. .

He Intimates That the Georgia Central Dividend Will Be Paid. New York, December 29 .- [Special.]-The Sun printed an exclusive story this morning. tral to the Georgia Pacific would probably be annulled, and also reporting the delay in the payment of the Central railroad's dividend.

The story made quite a stir in Wall street, and affected all the Terminal securities unfavorably. I succeeded in getting an interview with General Sam Thomas this afternoon, and give you below a report of what he said.

I asked him to give me whatever he could for southern readers on the Terminal situation.

which was due December 26th.

"I am bending my every energy for the preservation and protection of the entire Ter-minal system. I am thoroughly in favor of its preservation as a whole, and, believing as I do in the great earning capacity and perfect solvency of all the Terminal properties, I do not see any serious difficulty in the way of financiering the company successfully out of all difficulties. It is a matter of fact. I think those difficulties have been greatly exaggerated by some members of the Terminal manage nent, who were unduly apprehensive.

"The only difference which arose between

Mr. Inman and myself was a difference of measures would be necessary to protect the Terminal's credit and put it on a firm basis, owing to the floating debts of the sub-sidiary companies. I did not regard the situstion so serious, but insisted that all the relief which was necessary was obtainable within the family circle, that is, among the directors themselves. At all events, I was dead against any programm which involved any assessment on Terminal stock, or other tax upon the Terminal security holders, who, it seemed to me, had already suffered enough by the wholesale depreciation in market value of said securities. I was, therefore, immaterially epposed to the plan which it was said the Noton committee was about ready to recommend to the Terminal securities. I was, therefore, immaterially epposed to the ble man which it was said the Norton committee was about ready to recommend to the Terminal stockholders. In fact, I was opposed to the Norton committee as being a committee of outsiders entirely unidentified with the Terminal company, and not personally interested in its welfare. The Olcott committee, which has my hearty approval, is composed of Terminal stockholders who have large pecuniary interests in the Terminal property, and, therefore, are entitled to the public's best confidence, and I think they have it. They are men of broad financial experience and prominent ability, and will no doubt handle the Terminal problem with as much ease as a proficient school boy would solve the simplest rudimentary example in arithmetic. Personally I have thrown myself into the matter with all the energy I possess and I am determined to stand by the Terminal property in all respects.

"If firmly believe that, under the policy which my friends and I are advocating, all the securities embraced in the system will be greatly enhanced in value, and that the efficiency of all the railroad lines which the Terminal controls will be vastly improved, to the benefit and rejoicing of the whole southern country. In the carrying out of the plans which the Olcott committee recommends, it may be necessary to make several changes in the Terminal management, and also in the management of the subsidiary companies. But neither that policy nor any other will be pursued which is not prompted by the best interests of the real owners of the property involved."

The Central Dividend.

The Central Dividend.

"With reference to the delay in the payment of the Georgia Central dividend, I can only say that that has not been a matter directly under my control. In fact, until very recently, I have known little or nothing of the Georgia Central's affairs. I think, however, that the delay in the payment of the current dividend will be ended in a day or two. The hitch is due to the failure on the part of the Central to comply with certain technical details made necessary by its lease to the Georgia Pacific, which substantially is its lease to the Richmond and Danville. The details will no doubt be arranged within the next forty-eight hours, and then the dividend will be paid as though nothing had bappened. I have no idea that any hitch would have occurred if Mr. Inmen had not been confined at his home by sickness. If he had been able to be at this office during the last week or ten days, there would not probably have been any interruption to the payment of the Central dividend at the proper time."

This concluded the interview. President Inman has been shut up at home for two weeks with an aggravated case of grip, which, at one time, his physician was afmid might run into pneumonia. He is a great deal better, however, and hopes soon to be out in the active walks of life again.

Mr. Inman Talks.

Mr. Inman Talks. NEW YORK, December 29.—[Special.]—Mr. John Inman, who has been sick for ten days or two weeks from a severe attack of the grip, and who has, therefore, not been able to be at his office in that time, was told of the rumor about the non-payment of the Central dividend today.

"I have just heard of that for the first time," he said. "There can be nothing serious the matter—nothing beyond a mere technicality, which will be straightened out as which will be straightened out as soon as I am able to get to my office. I have been very sick, but am much better, and expect to be able to get will be straightened out and the dividend paid. I am satisfied there is nothing material in the way of such payment. It cannot be anything but a question as to certain securi-ties the Central was to furnish, and had I been in my office the past few days there would have been no trouble at all."

DOOLY GOES DRY. The Negroes Vote Almost Solid for Prohibition

hibition.

VIENNA, Ga., December 29.—[Special.]—The local option election in this county today resulted in a great victory for the prohibitionists, the county going dry by over a thousand majority. Great enthusiasm was displayed and special prohibition trains were run from the big sawmills along the road. The negroes voted practically solid for prohibition. Of thirteen precincts in the county every one went dry, including Cordele, Vienna precinct goes 492 to 22 dry.

Fire in Savannah.

SAVANNAR, Ga., December 29.—[Special.]—Fire broke out in the furniture factory of H. M. Boley & Son, on Lumber street, shortly after 6 o'clock tonight. The building was of frame, three stories high and well filled with stock, considerable of which was ready for the market. The fire spread rapidly, and by the time the department arrived it was evident that the factory could not be saved. A strong wind sprang up soon after, and, although the entire department was called to the spot, not only the furniture works, but the building of the Savannah steam laundry and a dozen dwellings were totally destroyed. Mr. Boley places his loss at $47,000, that on the building being $12.000 and the remainder the value of the plant and the stock. The place was insured for over thirty thousand dollars. The laundry saved all the linen on hand, but its plant went with the building. The houses were small frame ones, occupied by negroes, who saved their personal effects. These increase the total loss to $60,000. Fire in Savannah.

AN OLD PROJECT TAKES A NEW START

The Richmond and Danville Objects to Two-Dollar Handicap on Business to the West.

An air-line from Atlanta to Savannah has long been a favorite project with promoters of railroad enterprises. Divers projectors of such enterprises have looked into the situation from time to time, surveys have been e and capitalists have had the scheme talked into them by the hour.

Everybody admits that it ought to be a good thing, but somehow it has not materialized.

Colonel George Fry got a liberal charter to build such a line and called it the Middle Georgia and Atlantic. He boomed it along for awhile and dropped it. Then Colonel E. C. Machen took hold of the scheme. He did build several miles from Eatonton to Machen and graded on to Covington on the Georgia railroad. He seemed to be in a fair way to put the project through. The city of Savannah gave him and his associates 560 acres of land and franchises which alone were worth more than the road would cost built and equipped. Savannah parties wanted to handle the enterprise at that juncture and he finally

Money has been tight and railroad securities have been the hardest thing in the world to Nothing tangible has been done toward reanming construction, and the city of Savannah grew restless. The council wanted to know what the company proposed to do. To the city the railroad replies that it has eighteen months yet to comply with the condi-tions of the grants. In the main the grant depends upon seventy-five miles of road being built and a bridge being constructed over the Savannah river by July 7, 1893.

New life has been taken on by the company, and a stir is being made at the Savannah end. Colonel Machen went down last night. He declined to say whether his visit has any connection with this enterprise or not. He can build more railroad on less capital than anybody who ever tried that sort of thing in these parts. Of late he has been figuring with capitalists, and it its said that he can put his hands on money enough to build two good-sized railroads. He knows where to get capital and how to get it. And that is what very few do know.

Now, the question is, why has Colonel Machen gone to Savannah at this particular time? It does look as though his pet project will take a fresh start, and that the air-line will be built, giving Atlanta another and direct outlet to the seaboard. Here is what The Savannah News says about it: down last night. He declined to say whether "Its officers report that it has done a very considerable amount of work and expended a large sum of money on that part of the road leading in this direction from Covington. The company's purpose seems to be to spend money on that part of its line where the best results can be obtained at this time. The work on this end of the line can be done in a comparatively short time. There is good ground for expecting that the road will be built within two years. It is the intention of the company to push forward work upon it vigorously."

SUPERINTENDENT GRAY IN TOWN.

Why the Georgia Midland Parts Company with the Columbus Southern. Superintendent E. M. Gray, of the Georgia Mid-

Mr. Gray was presented with a handsome gold-headed cane on Christmas by the local agents of the Midland and the Columbus Southern. He was gratified at the evidence of good will on the part of the men.

On Friday the Columbus Southern draws out of the combination with the Midland and goes it alone. The Midland was willing to operate the road for the coming year, but decined to carry it until September and then give it up, when traffic cars bear.

CHARGED WITH BIGAMY.

Jack Murphy, a Barber, Was Locked Up Yesterday for Having Two Wives.

Jack Murphy, a barber, was arrested yesterday in the charge of bigamy. Murphy is about thirty years old. He has lived in Atlanta since September, and with a young woman whom he claimed as his wife, put up at a hotel. Murphy got employment and everything went well for several weeks. Murphy married the woman in Franklin, Tenn.,

Yesterday Mrs. Murphy told the whole story to the police. She says she never expects to live with her husband again, as his treatment toward her is unbearable.:

THE WOULD-BE EMIGRANTS

There is considerable stirring around among several hundred Atlanta negroes, and it is due to the near approach of the date set for their depar-They are due to leave between the 1st and 8th of January. Some say they will leave on the 1st, others say it will be the 8th.

Will they go at all? That's the question that is disturbing some of those expecting to go. They seem to think that developments are too slow, and unless there is some hustling done the appointed date of departure will arrive and find the underground plans in a peculiar state of underground plans in a peculiar state of underground.

The railroad companies say that no permanent arrangements have been made with any of them for the transportation of the 800 emigrants to New York. Gaston, the promoter of the scheme, has said something to the Richmond and Danville company about reduced rates to New York for the party, but nothing definite has been agreed upon, and of late no particular effort has been made to mature the arrangements.

cular effort has been made to mature the arrangements.

Gaston when he was negotiating with the railroad company said that he did not desire to make any definite arrangements, as he wanted to keep the proposed date of departure a secret, but only desired to find out what could be done.

So the matter stands now decidedly in stant quo. The negroes are very reticent about the matter, and some of them say very frankly that they have positive instructions to be mum. A great many of the members of the association are greatly disturbed over the outlook and are about to give up the ghost at the eleventh hour. The majority of them, however, are as enthusiastic as ever and say that the scheme will go through in good shape and at the appointed time.

WHAT JONES SAYS.

That He Did Not Make His Son Drunk or Gamble with Him-The Boy Released. The charge of larceny against Walter Jones, preferred by his father, Tom Jones, was withdrawn yesterday.

Jones stoutly denies the allegation that he made his son drunk and gambled with him. He says the boy was drunk, but that he had nothing to do with it.

He states further that he did not gamble with the boy and never played a game of any kind with him for money, and the boy would have never made such charges had he not been under the influence of whisky. Jones says that the boy did steal his watch and gave it to Jule Wyly, who pawned it, but he does not want to send his own son to the chaingang. The watch was an excelent

The programme contained sixteen numbers, embracing the works of Bach, Tausig, Mozart, Bechoven, Schumann, Jadassohn, Raif, Foote, Chopin, Kroeger, Moszkowski and Liszt. The planist laid out for herself no easy task.

Miss Stevens enjoys a well-earned reputation ranking in the category with such planists as Carenno. Aus der Ohe and Schiller. None of the praise the critics have given her is flattery. She demonstrated by her rendering of this exacting programme her unusual planistic abilities. Her technique is so good that she accomplishes with ease the most difficult feats, verifying the motto, "Ars Est Celere Artem." Her style is irreproachable, and her intelligence is of a high order. Her phrasing and clean, rippling octave playing, and her bird-like trills are delightful to educated ears. Miss Stevens might repeat her recital before a much larger audience.

ATLANTA, December 29, 1891. Atlanta Clearing Association Statement.

Something of a sensation was created today by the rumor from New York that the Central railroad dividend was not being paid, and to this was ascribed the weakness in Terminal, which declined fractionally in the early part of the day.

A second dispatch of this tenor was received, assigning as a reason for the failure of the Georgia Pacific-lessee of the Central-to provide funds for the dividend, that the Olcott committee desired to break the lesse, holding that the Georgia Pacific, failing to earn its own fixed charges, should not be burdened with providing money to meet the charges of any other company.

spatch was sent to Savannah by a private party, and e reply states that money for the dividend was paid the Central on the 20th instant, and the divi nd has been under disbursement ever since the 24th

NEW YORK, December 29.—The stock market to day for the first time in many days showed a real reac-tionary temper, and while there were evidences of support and demand from commission houses, con-tinued heavy realization of profits by those who desupport and demand from commission houses, continued heavy realization of profits by those who desire to close up everything with the year] added to the efforts of the hears to take advantage of this realizing forced small concessions in almost everything traded in, while a few of the leading shares made material declines from last night's prices. The movement began in London which came lower this morning, and the market from the start was inclined to follow, but strength was shown by the Gould properties, and Missouri Pacific in particular checked the declining tendency during the whole of the forenoon. Later, however, coalers were selected to bear the severest pressure, and when a marked loss had been sustained in these shares Gould shares followed and lost all of their early improvement with something in admitted. The strength displayed in apscial stocks, however, was still one of the features of the market, and, in the face of the general weakness, Omaha common was forced up over 3 per cent in the afternoon, and while not closing at the best figures scored a marked gain for the day. As usual of late Industrials were quiet and without feature, and the Grangers followed the rest of the list throughout the day, though Burlington was specially weak and lost a material amount. The opening was tame and lower in sympathy with London quotations, and early trading saw further concessions all along the line, but strength in Missouri Pacific ruled the market and prices were brought up above toose of the opening, the movement and prices being helped by special atterngth in Distilleries and Consolidated Gas, the last named rising ever 1 per cent. The attack to Golers, however, dropped Jersey Central from 113% to 110½ and others followed. in more active shares and the downward movement pid rise in Omaha rallied the list again, the sumed in final dealings and the market closed active and heavy at close to the lowest prices of the day. Final losses are in most cases large fractions, but Lackawanna lost 1%, Northern Pacific preferred 1%, Burlington 1% and Lake Shore 1 per cent, while Omaha is up 2% per cent. NEW YORK, December 29.—In spite of fractionally lower prices from London, our market developed considerable strength during the morning, and although there was some concession during the midday hours in sympathy with a sharp decline on the Coal shares, prices at the close are near the best of the day, and the undertone is a decidedly strong one. The trading has been preity generally divided, and no particular stock or group of stock has monopolized transactions. One of the features was the good buying of Missouri Pacific stock, as well as an improvement in the quotations for its bonds, which was considered encouraging, as showing Mr. Gould's position towards the market. Trading mas by no means as active as yesterday, and it is posing Mr. Gould's position towards the market. Tracing was by no means as active as yesterday, and it is possible that the market may continue dull until after the New Year, but the general sentiment is rapidly becoming bullish, and we regard ultimately higher prices as

The following are the closing quotations of fut-otton in New Orleans today: CONSTITUTION OFFICE, ATCANTA. December 29, 1831.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular. Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, December 29.—[Special.]—So much stress is being laid upon the weight of accumulating supplies of cotton that we have thought it would be interesting to ascertain the average date for the past ten years at which the world's visible supply of cotton has been the largest. This date proves, upon investigation, to be January 18th. Last year the supply was at its maximum or the 28th of February. As it is certain this year that the movement after the 1st of January will be less than it was last year, it is evident that we shall earlier reach the date of maximum supply, and tain this year that the movement after the ist of January will be less than it was last year, it is evident that we shall earlier reach the date of maximum supply, and are inclined to think that no appreciable addition will be made to the visible after the New Year. It is, therefore, evident that from now on, whatever the size of the crop, we have to deal with a supply that is actually decreasing, and that any excess of receipts over the anticipated movement is an addition to expectations and in the light rather a speculative disappointment than an augmentation of the actual weight of present stocks. The Liverpool market reopened this morning for the first time since Thursday. A full response to the decline here during the interval was not made. Opening prices were 5-5-6-d lower than the last figures on Christmas Eve, and a further decline of 2-5-6-d was established before the close, which was easy. Apparently the demoralization abroad was not as great as it had been here; and our market reassured, advanced some 5-6-6-points at the opening. This was subsequently lost, partially recovered and lost again, and at 2 o'clock prices are about 3 points over the figures of last evening. The feeling is plainly a nervous one, and the recovery from the blow dealt by Bradstreets' estimate is naturally a slow one. Still, for the present, bottom seems to have been reached, and prices show a disposition to advance with any encouragement in the shape of lighter receipts. The movement for the bottom seems to have been reached, and prices show a disposition to advance with any encouragement in the shape of lighter receipts. The movement for the first three days of this week promises to be about 40,000 bales less than for the same three days last year, but predictions of heavy receipts tomorrow at New Orleans have served to hold the market in check. The interior towns, as far as known, promise to be decidedly less than last year. After 2 o'clock the market assumed decidedly more stability, closing very steady, though without much change in prices. The buying of one of the richest and most conspicuous commission houses in the trade was a noticeable feature. Late cables from Liverpool lead to the expectation of a higher market there tomorrow in the absence of any further decline there.

Lehman Bros.' Cotton Letter.

NEW YORK, December 29.—The first cables from Liverpool this morning, giving a decline of 5-64d, were favorably construed, and should have had a greater effect upon our market. The pressure, however, of January noticesjand a large liquidation of these nearby contracts counterbalaned the influence which would otherwise doubtless have come. Subsequently Liverpool was reported at a further decline of 162-54d on the report from this side that the receipts at the ports would be 58,000 bales. They have actually been but a little over 48,000 bales, and tomorrow are estimated at 32,000 to 33,000 bales. On the whole, values have been fairly steady throughout the day, closing at have been fairly steady throughout the day, closing at about last night's prices. We have had moments of some little weakness mainly, as observed before, under the influence of the selling out of January. Whenever this pressure let up, however, prices began to recover. There is absolutely nothing new to be said, and the whole point is now a question whether our bulls can hold on or whether they will be forced out by further heavy receipts. If the cotton coming into sight is not too much so that it can be absorbed we feel as if we shall see better things, and believe, as we have so often said, that values, even admitting a large crop, are reasonable. have been fairly steady throughout the day, closing at

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO. December 29. — Wheat showed more strength around the opening and made some advance, but still there was nothing like animation or vigor in the trading. Local business still drags and there is scarcely any outside trade. The early strength departed before noon, however, and the early advance was lost. Late cables came in lower, buyers drew out, and with liberal offerings lower prices were easily made. May opened at 95½c2. 35½c, advanced to 96c, then gradually sagged off to 95c and closed at 95½c.

Corn opened quiet and was strong for awhile, but like wheat, it turned weak later and declined, closing at inside figures. The builish feature early was poor gradings. There was free covering by shorts and some buying for investment on a theory that some reaction was naturally due after the severe break of yesterday. The fluctuations of the day were comparatively narrow, however, being confined to a range of ½c, and the close shows a loss compared with yesterday's closing of ½c except December which is ¾c off.

Oats were duli and featureless, closing ½c lower.

Hog products opened firmer with wheat and corn. Receipts of hogs were about ten thousand head less than was expected and prices at the yards 5@10e heber. A weakness et in later, however, and prices than was expected and prices at the yards 5610c higher. A weakness set in later, however, and prices went off slowly, closing at about inside figures and at a loss of 22% for pork, 2%67% for lard and 5c tor

CHICAGO, December 22.—Trade in grain and provisions was very moderate today and the fluctuations narrow. Wheat ruled strong the fore part of the session, owing to the decrease on passage, decrease in the English visible supply and the falling off in shipments from India. The advance in "call" price caused offerings to become free, which, with lower cables from the English and contunental markets, a decline ensued and early buyers became sellers, causing prices to close near the lewest point of the day.

Corn was easy, especially for the near deliveries, stocks, and while prices are no longer high, cash property must be expected to pay a reasonable charge. In oats there was nothing doing worthy of note. The hog receipts were lighter than was expected, and prices were firmer at the yard, but a prominent packing company sold treely, and there appears to be some outside liquidation as we approach the end of the month, and while values may settle some, lower prices are getting down to a point that after the liquidation of January property is completed, we ought to get a better market.

ATLANTA, GA., December 30, 1891.

The New York State Senate:

Democrats, 17. Republicans, 14. Vacant, 1.

So Much to the Credit of "Hill's Gang."

The Work of Governor Hill. "Governor Hill's gang" is the dem

cratic party of New York, which has thrice elected him to the executive chair, forced upon him the senatorship, and then commanded him, through its state executive committee, to hold on to the governorship until the party had secured the full fruits of its magnificent victory gained in November last

The result is that when Governor Hil retires from office on the 1st of January he will leave the state with its first democratic legislature in twenty-five years, and with the stannch Roswell P. Flower in the executive chair.

It is for this admirable leadership of his party that Governor Hill is being denounced by the republican heelers, whose words are caught up and re-echoed by alleged democratic newspapers, which prefer Fassett's force bill colleagues to "Hill's gang."

For ten years David B. Hill has stood before the democrats of New York as their most successful leader. He had for his opponents the most skillful, as well as the most corrupt, politicians of the land. Ever alert, he checkmated them and led his party on to victory after victory. When at the end of his third term, he decided to retire, the democratic legislature of New York-"Hill's gang"—unanimously sent him to the United States senate. In the interim, after the election of Governor Flower, when republican partisan judges and thieves, for whom the mugwump organs have only words of were about to steal the legislature, the democratic state executive committee requested Governor Hill to hold on to his office and see to it that justice was done. With a nerve seldom equaled, the governor demanded that the questions at issue in the disputed districts should be passed upon by the supreme court of the state. By his firm action he forced this solution of the question, and the action of the supreme court yesterday, by which both houses are declared democratic, justifies the course of Governor Hill, and entitle him to the praise of every democrat who holds his party above personalism.

Holding the governor's chair for three terms, watched at every step by unscrupulous foes, not once has a charge even of dishonesty or corruption been made against him. In the words of The New York Tribune, "he is a dangerous man," because he has won democratic victories, and in the language of an Atlanta evening paper, the democrats who put him where he is; the executive committee which besought him unanimously to hold on, and the supreme court of the state which has endorsed his contention are all "Hill's

When a democratic governor does his duty so as to place his party on the highest pinnacle of success, it is to be expected that republicans will denounce him. The rank and file of the demoeratic party, however, will ardently wish for just such "gangs" in every state in the union-"gangs" which will not sell out to the enemy, but which will see that republican rascals are promptly routed from every position of trust in the land.

A Republican View of Ingalls. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat agrees with THE CONSTITUTION that John J.

Ingalls is a senatorial impossibility. Our contemporary says that Ingalls is intellectually the biggest man in Kansas, with a long and distinguished experience in the senate. Yet nobody mentions him for the vacant Kansas senatorship. No governor would appoint him, and no legislature would elect him. No party would touch him, and nobody suggests him for any office because nobody knows what his views are on any question of national concern. The Globe

mocrat says: Democrat says:

Although he was in the senate eighteen years his state was never able to learn just where he stood on the big issues of the day. He was, at one time or other of this period, on at least two sides of every promipent question which had that many sides, and nobody could ever really tell in which of his positions he was sincere, or whether he was sincere in any of them. Hence his name is not coupled with the office to be filled. There are half a dozen, perhaps a dozen, men in Kansas who half a dozen, perhaps a dozen, men in Kansas who may be said to be in the list of senatorial possibilities. He is undoubtedly and emphatically an impossibility. The ex-senator is a "grand,gloomy and peculiar" figure. There is, for the moral philosopher and the alienist, a broad field for research in the personality of John Lineal

There is no exaggeration in these state ments. The statesman out of a job was never anything more than a tinkling cymba in the senate. His pride of intellect rui him. He took an impish delight in advo cating all sides of all questions. One day he served the plutocrats of the east, and the next he spoke for the toilers of the west. He was a south-hater, and yet he worked against the force bill. He the plain people, and yet deserted the bosses when they most needed him.

He worshiped himself. He was stuck or Ingalls. He was the most selfish man in public life. He regarded the senate as stage with Ingalls for the central figure—th star of the combination. He posed and strutted, and dressed and spoke in a theatrical way.

Now, when a man plays tricks with his intellect, instead of making it serve some useful purpose, people soon come to the conclusion that he is a hollow sham-a charlatan-a fraud. This is the popular verdict regarding Ingalls.

Gunpowder in the Air.

In our military and naval circles the talk is peaceful, and the preparations warlike. Unofficial reports indicate the probability of an outbreak of hostilities between the United States and Chile. It is said that our cruisers are getting ready, and soldiers and munitions of war are being massed on the Pacific coast.

This preparation for war may be the means of averting it. The Chileans are a wide-awake, progressive people. They never shrink from danger when anything is to be gained by confronting it, but they are probably convinced by this time that they cannot afford to measure swords with nation outnumbering them sixteen to one.

We believe that Chile is hopelessly in the wrong in this quarrel, and it strikes us that she needs a lesson that will induce her to respect our flag and the rights of our citizens in future, but nothing has yet occurred to make a war between the two countries inevitable or even probable.

The chances are that Chile will apologize or make reparation for the murder of the American sailors belonging to the Baltimore. Perhans all this bustle in our naval circles will contribute to such a result, and t is more than likely that our racket is made with that very object in view. It is the policy of the administration to create the mpression that its bold front has intimidated Chile, but neither President Harrison nor Mr. Blaine is very anxious to go to war with a weak sister republic situated at uch a distance from our base of supplies.

Of course, under such conditions, there is possibility of serious trouble. The rash conduct of a Chilean naval officer, or the fury of a Chilean mob may go far enough to precipitate hostilities and draw the two governments into a conflict very unexpectedly, but if nothing extraordinary occurs the present excitement will quiet down, and a few red-tape diplomatic fossils on both sides will settle the whole matter amicably, winding up with a banquet.

In the meantime, however, there is gunowder in the air, and a cloud of mystery enveloping the war department. We are getting ready for the worst, But sometimes we have a good deal of smoke with no fire that amounts to anything.

Pullman Street Cars.

Kate Field's Washington thinks that the roblem of rapid transit has been solved by the Pullman-Sessions double-decked stree car. Atlanta already has one of these cars. and it may shortly have others, for it is a town that never stays very far behind other towns; but the double-decker was not prought here for the purpose of promoting rapid transit, but for the accommodation of pienic parties.

Moreover, in Atlanta the problem of rapid transit involves the question of rapid motion, while in the larger cities it is a question of transporting large crowds. The new Pullman-Sessions street car is thirty-two fee long with two stories instead of one. There are no platforms at the ends, the exits and entrances being on both sides in the middle. The motorman or gripman occupies a covered cab in the second story, and is protected from the elements. The car is lighted and heated by electricity, and the floor of the second story is as warm as that below. although the second story is open at the sides. But there are curtains in this department that can be drawn.

The first story will accommodate forty persons with seats and the second forty, making comfortable accommodations for eighty persons. The experimental car in Boston carries 1,420 passengers daily, 711 of whom sit on top. Where the old horse cars earned 33 cents per car mile, the new car earns $2 per car mile. Crowded to the utmost it can carry 250 persons.

Miss Kate Field thinks that if these cars are placed on the surface and elevated roads of New York city and other large cities the problem of rapid transit will be solved, at east for the present. Atlanta will be compelled to have something of this sort after while but just now she is content with the great improvements which are going forward in the shape of substituting electric lines for the old horse-car system. Within the course of another twelve months, Atlanta will have the best equipped system of electric roads to be found in the country.

WE THANK thee for the words-"Hill's gang.'

IT SHOULD be mentioned that W. J. Arkell s not an authority with all democrats.

Some of the weather prophets are prepar ing to go out of business. They cannot com pete with the warm winters. ON THE one side were arrayed-mugwum and republicans; on the other—Hill and his "gang" of democrats.

THE READINESS with which some of our southern democratic contemporaries endorse republican attacks on distinguished democrats shows that party feeling is not raging as high as it once raged.

Some of our southern contemporaries are making some fuss over the possible democratic nominee. It is a useless rattling of tin pans.
Our southern contemporaries will all fall in behind the great and good Constitution and support the nominee, no matter who

WHAT INTEREST did the mugwumps hav in wanting to see the New York state senate delivered to the republicans? "Hill's gang"

IF BOB INGERSOLL runs for president he will want Beelzebub on the ticket with him. This will be a typical republican affair.

THE ROYAL FAMILY of England multiplies is fast as the Australian rabbits. There is ther sad thought about this. The En are the only civilized people on the globe who permit themselves to be governed by foreigners. We are very glad the Americans came away from England when they did.

The New York Times says of it: "The pupil is sent by his family or comes voluntarily to the 'states' to learn practical farming, intending the novitiate to be followed by the purchase of a plantation. Through negotiations between agents in London and Virginia, he is settled on a farm, and into the household he is received in all respects as an equal. Whenever a pupil is found who has money, the American arent is cabled to 'salks' to the equal. Whenever a pupil is found who has money, the American agent is cabled to 'sūčk' to the lamb and not to let him escape, and, to the credit of the bulldog tenacity of the agent, the pupil seldom does. The object of the sticking is for future benefit, the agent intending to assist the pupil and his own pocketbook when the pupil subsequently invests in a farm.

The best thing a man can do when he is whipped is to gracefully yield. I nsed to be an old whig in my young days, and I know a heap about politics. This kicking business broke up the old whig party. When a whig failed to get the nomination he went over to the democratic party. In those days we used to furnish the brains to the democrats in that way. Now we all belong o the democratic party, and the brainy men in the democratic party want to keep it together. Crisp is the first man elected by the south since the war to a national office, and to have men assault him right here in Georgia for nothing is all very imroper, to say the least."

Trifling with Justice.

From The Columbus Enquirer-Sun.

In THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION of Sunday appeared a very excellent editorial under the above caption, which deserves the thoughtful consideration of those in authority, as it will certainly have from the mass of the intelligent people of the country. We perfectly coincide in the views expressed by THE CONSTITUTION, and would urge a custom which has no justification to commend it. om which has no justification to commend it, is calculated rather to work injuriously, should be abandoned. The pardon power should be exercised with the greatest caution, and what reason can be advanced for turning loose offend-

If they are sentenced for five or ten days they should serve it out, even if it included the last week in December instead of the last week of January. It has been the practice in Coimbus as in Atlanta and other places, but it is to be noped that it will hereafter be discontinued and all "trifling with justice" be stopped. The CONSTITUTION'S article deserves special attention.

He knew itacolunsite was to be found there, consequently probably diamonds. He knew diamonds had been found in Georgia. perhaps twenty or twenty-five pieces, small, not showy, each probably weighing between one and two pennyweights. They were irregular, had not the regular form of crystalization of diamonds, else I would have known them, were not clear and bright, and yet I saw no reason why I should not believe that they were genuine diamonds.

He told me they were diamonds of an inferior quality, not fif or jewels, but yet good to make borers, and worth three to four dollars a pennyweight. He had found them crawling on knees and hands for ten days in the mountains, he had found several places, he would go back to the west and make arrangements, etc., and would return.

He did not return, however.

Let Us Pull Together.

EDITOR CONSTITUTION-It is a painful fact tha some of our democratic papers choose to fight our leading men. They make war on Judge Crisp be-cause he appointed Mr. Springer chairman of the cause he appointed Mr. Springer chairman of the ways and means committee. They have decided in advance that Springer is going to mismanage the whole business, and they have, therefore, tried him and condemned him; and they have also tried Crisp for appointing him, and condemned him. They are also about to try Hill, of New York, for defeating the tricks and frauds of the so-called republicans of that state. It looks as if it is going to be a matter of doubt which side they are going to take in the next presidential contest. They are certainly doing the democracy about all the harm that they are capable of doing at this time. They claim to be for tariff reform, and if they are not mistaken about that, they are with the democrats on one question. And that is about the only question that they hold in common time. They claim to be for tariff reform, and if they are not mistaken about that, they are with the democrats on one question. And that is about the only question that they hold in common with us. On everything else they appear to be against us. Should the democracy nominate for the presidency some anti-tariff mugwump they might be for him, but from now on to the time of making the nomination it is probable they will be fighting every prominent democrat who has any ohance for the nomination.

If these journeymen fault-finders could have waited till something wrong was done, how much more happy they would have been. They have settled it that Springer is going to play the devil, and they are holding Mr. Crisp to a fearful accountability for appointing him. If Mr. Springer should manage the business in hand ever so well, it is not likely that they will have the honesty and humility to confess they were wanting in wisdom and had made a mistake, and it is probable that they will be very hard to please with anything that Mr. Springer or Speaker Crisp may do. They have also taken their stand against Mr. Hill, of New York. He is doing too much for the democracy and for the emancipation of his state from the wicked and fraudulent control of the force bill party who have triumphed over right and truth for a long series of years. It has a very treacherous look to the genuine democracy to see so-called democratic papers doing such things.

A DEMOCRAT.

Handel's "Messiah."

ATLANTA, Ga., December 29 .- I notice that the

I am told that this organization was formed for the study and rendition of oratorio and other standard music, and at their first meeting, to show that their intention was fixed, they decided to take up "The Messiah."

Great in all the beauties of his art, Handel is the real creator and perfector of the oratoricits hignest form, and his "Messiah" is his mas piece. This work is supposed by many, and I believe it, to be an inspired writing, because, said Handel when he had finished the hallelujah chorus: "I did think I did see heaven before me and the great God himself."

Handel was requested to write something for the dedication of a concert hall in Dublin, and after considering the matter, he began and finished "The Messiah" in twenty-fourldays, the most phenomenal success which was ever before or since heard of in music. After finishing the work, he seems to have considered it too sacred for dedicating even a music hall, so the first performance was given as a beneficiary one in aid of the poor and distressed prisoners for debt, in the Marshalsea in Dublin, in 1742, although composed in England. Handel and all the soloists gave their services gratuitously and the proceeds of the performance were £400, and so by a remarkable coincidence the first performance of "The Messiah" meant deliverance to the captives. Grand motive, grand work, grand success.

Although the consensus of the competent is, that the English are not a musical people, we are the dedication of a concert hall in Dublin, siah" meant deliverance to the captives. Grand motive, grand work, grand success.

Although the consensus of the competent is, that the English are not a musical people, we are forced to admit that they have the feeling for true art in music, for Handel's "Messiah" has remained so popular in London, that there are at all times, more than four thousand singers and instrumental performers capable of executing it from memory and without notes, and I read in The Boston Musical Record, this month, that the Birmingham, England, festival netted over tweny-five thousand dollars, to which fund "The Messiah" contributed $7.160. When "The Messiah" was first performed in England, we are told that the audience was much affected by the music, but when the chorus struck up "For the Lord God Omnjotent" they were so transported that all, even the king, who was present, started up and remained standing till the chorus ended, hence the custom ever since has been for the audience to rise, and remain standing 'through the hallelujah chorus, which I hope Mr. Burbank will have observed here.

It is gratifying to lovers of "The Messiah" to know that it was the last performance in which he took an active part, his death occurring eight days later, on Good Friday, in hopes," he said, "of meeting his good God, his sweet Lord and Savior on the day of his resurection."

I expressed my delight that the Atlanta Choral Union would give "The Messiah" to a friend, a musicalan (?) too. I was astonished when he asked me if I thought that it would be received in Atlanta. And why not, is it possible that we will admit that there is not enough love of the art in Atlanta. And why not, is it possible that we will admit that there is not enough love of the art in Atlanta. And why not, is it possible that we will admit that there is not enough howe of the art in Atlanta. And why not, is it possible that we will admit that there is not enough howe of the art in Atlanta. The missiah" as a part of Christmas. I hear that Mr. Burbank has given "The Messiah"

They have also engaged the Boston Symp rney have also charged the Boston Symphon Orchestral Club, composed of the highest class of artists, which, with a few of the best of Atlanta's players, will constitute the orchestra. Mrs. Anno Simon Werner, soprano; Miss Nellie Knight, contralio; Mr. Samuel M. Burbank, basso, and a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestral Club tenor, will be the soloists. With this material under the baton of Mr. Burbank, I predict for The musical Atlanta.

Why not encourage so grand an undertaking and give gnancial support to this organization, that they may be able to give this oratoric every Christmas for charity, for which its great master intended it?

The letter is an able exposition of the facts in the case.

"Every alliance congressman entered the democratic caucus," says he, "and there were two salient reasons for so doing. First, we were elected and nominated as democrats, and after the nomination received the votes of democrats, not alliancemen. If we had disregarded these promises and professions, how could any one longer place confidence in any promise we might make. We entered the democratic caucus and did all in our power to secure the best democrat possible to serve as speaker of the fifty-second congress. As democrate, that was our plain, duty. No man who knows Charles F. Crisp will dare attempt to discount his democracy from a Jefferson or Calhoun standpoint. The issue between Mills and Crisp was not a personal one. When we assembled the issue was a clean-cut one. Mills was backed by the old leaders in the democratic party and the goldburs, for tariff reform only, and Crisp was hacked by a large majority of the new members and the solid alliance democratic vote. If Mills should be elected speaker there would have been no reduction in the tariff or the necessities of life, and no expansion of the currency either by free and unlimited coinage or otherwise. Crisp's election would pledge congress and the party to both tariff and financial reform, and this is the gist of the Ocala demands.

"Now we can and will be heard. In the person of Mills of T-xas, the alliance order and demands had a bitter and defiant foe. In Crisp the alliance order and demands had a man that was and is willing that the demands of the order shall be presented to congress with equal facilities with any other matter to be considered."

Colonel Livingston deals with the third party in no doubtful language, devoting a column of his letter to the discussion of it.

"The moment," says he, "we declare for the people's party then we draw the line between us and democrats and republicans, and cannot hope for either, but while we remain as an alliance order old political parties.

The Richmond and Danville Says Let Eve Tub Stand On Its Own Bottom.

A meeting of the Southern Passenger Associa-tion was held yesterday at the commissioner's office in the Chamber of Commerce building. The question up was the "differentials" which the lines out of New York enjoy by way of Cincinnati to western points.

The lines by way of Cincinnati have a two-dollar "differential" on tickets from New York to Memphis. To this the Richmond and Danville objected. It does not want the northern lines to have that or any advantage in the matter of rates. A "differential" is the concession which the strong in sometimes allow to the weaker ones. The romby Cincinnati h ve been allowed to sell tickets at cheaper than the Richmond and Danville from New York to Memphis.

Very naturally, the Richmond and Danville wants all to be on the same footing. The matter was talked over, and it was proposed to leave it at the managers, but that proposition fell through and the decision was left with the commissioner, who held a number of proxies.

A Token of Appreciation.—A very interesting little event occurred at the West End Baptist church last Sunday morning. At the conclusion of the Sunday school services Rev. S. Y. Jameson, on behalf of the church and the Sunday school, presented Miss Lucile Daniel with a handsome library set of Bulwer's works. In a beautiful little speech, highly complimentary (and all the compliments highly deserved), Mr. Jameson said that the church and the school took this method of showing their appreciation of Miss Lucile is services as assistant organist. Miss Lucile is the daughter of Mr. J. C. Daniel, and, although quite young, is an accomplished musician. As she also has a is an accomplished musician. As she also has a thoroughly cultivated taste for all that is best in literature, it is needless to say that this unex-pected gift of her friends is highly appreciated.

The Yale Boys.—Tomorrow night the concert of the Yale Banjo and Giee clubs will take place in the new amusement hall of the Young Men's Christian Association. So many seats have already been reserved that it is easy to foresee a very marked success so far as the attendance is concerned. And it goes without saying that the audience will not be disappointed. The membership of the two clubs aggregates some forty-eight students, each one of whom is either a skilled instrumentalist or an accomplished singer. The programme which the students have selected is calculated to please a mixed audience. The clubs will reach Atlanta tomorrow at noon. After the concert they will be entertained at the Capital City Club. During their stay in Atlanta they will be given several receptions at private houses.

A Christmas Celebration.-The Church of Our Father was filled to its fullest capacity last night with a merry crowd of children and grown up people, who seemed to thoroughly enjoy the exercises of music and social converse.

exercises of music and social converse.

There was a large tree in the center of the church loaded with stockings and boxes of candy, with oranges and apples and boubons for the children, the whole lighted up with tapers. Miss Helena Schumann presided at the plano, while the children marched and danced around the tree singing carols, while some of the older ones seemed to forget their years and joined in the sports of the little ones. Refreshments were served to all, these consisting of roast turkey, bread, cake and coffee, followed by a distribution of presents to the children, and music, instrumental and vocal.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

The Juch company concluded a successful engagement last night, Miss Juch appearing in the roll in which she has won so much fame—Marguerite. In the afternoon "Il Trovatore" was sung, but Miss Juch was not in the cast. A large audience enjoyed "Faust" last night. Corinne Tonight.

This evening will appear for the first time in Atlanta, since she is arrived at young ladyhood, that charming little star. Corinne is today the that charming little star. Corinne is today the most popular actress of America, and is received with enthusiasm and full houses everywhere she appears in the large northern cities. The Kimball Comic Opera Company, which supports her, is a first-class one, numbering sixty people. There is not a bad singer among the caste, and all the chorus is excellent. The burlesque opera of "Carmen Up to Data," is mounted with a lavish expenditure of money. Everything in scenery, costumes, stage settings and properties, is of the best order, and will astonish Atlanta theatergoers, although well accustomed to see good productions. In the course of a long notice of Corinne's reception in Philadelphia, The Times, after spe king of the immense crowd, said of the performance:

ing of the immense crowd, said of the performance:

"There is a pleasing newness about the piece that is refreshing. The dialogue is bright and witty, telling a simple but ingenious story, set to charming and merry music, with here and there a comic and topical song, a dash of the mock heroic and a tinting of sentimentalism. The piece is beautifully staged, several of the scenes are remarkable for their prodigal richness and elegance of design, and the costumes are uncommonly handsome and picturesque. Corinne as Carmen-leta, the dancing girl, a part that fits her like a glove, is the feature of the performance. The Spanish dances are a revelation, and are done by this most expert and clever artists with a dash and abandon that is both dreamy and exhilarating and a precision and skill that command the applause of the most critical. The support is excellent.

At Edgewood Avenue.

At Edgewood Avenue.

Commencing tonight, Denman Thompson and George Ryer's great play, "The Two Sisters," will hold the beards at the Edgewood. The press of every city in which it has been played has praised both play and company, and stamp it as great a play as their first effort, "The Old Homestead".

The Denver Times, in speaking of the play,

The Denver Times, in speaking about, and worth thinking about. It reflects native American life. Shakespeare, Carlyle and Emerson wrote some admirable literature, but the people' read the newspapers nowadays while the works of the great writers grow moidly on the shelf. The newspaper reflects the common life of the people—its tragedy, comedy and romance is all our own and we read it. The tragedy of Martha Howard is the tragedy of the police court. We know the story of 'The Two Sisters,' for it can be seen on our streets or read in the newspapers every day." seen on our streets or read in the newspapers every day."

"The Two Sisters" will be played again at mati-nee and night tomorrow.

Rhea Next at DeGive's.

The appearance of Rhea at DeGive's Friday and Saturday will be a dramatic event of great interest. There is no actress on the American stage more popular here in Atlanta. She comes this year with two plays new to her repertoire, "Czarina" and "Catherine Howard," and are both very strong.

Governor Northen had three callers in his behalf yesterday. They were Judge James A. Anderson, Dr. J. William Jones, and Colonel unique case yesterday, but he lost no more time in naking the decision than it took to write it out.

The petition before the governor is such as to cause his careful consideration and investigation. The solicitor general who prosecuted the case and the judge who tried it ecommend that Whitlock be pardoned.

Some months agome the citizens of a certain community in Pierce county decided that their educational facilities were not good enough, and set about to build a new schoolhouse. The work was begun and a splendid building was erected. Why not have a good building, as it would be paid for out of Pierce county's school fund? That building is now finished, and is fair to look upon, but the bill for the material and for the architect's work will not be paid out of the school fund. The citizens who were interested in the schoolhouse will have to pay for it.

That's according to Captain Bradwell's decision made yest erday.

The state does not pay for school buildings, but schoolhouses can be rented, and the rent paid out of the fund.

They were issued yesterday from the office of the railroad com mission.

They read as follows:
In the matter of the petition of the Georgia Southern and Florula Railroad Company that the passenger rates be placed at 3 cents per mile, the commission, after carefully considering the facts and figurus presented, which show that the present rate is not remunerative to the company, and as these rates were made by the special request of the Georgia Southern Railroad Company, the commission decides and so instructs that the said railroad company be allowed to re-establish the rate of 3 cents per mile over its line.

THE COUNTY COURTHOUSE.

Gossip Gathered Yesterday in the Various Cossip Gathered Yesterday in the Various Departments.

This is an off week in the county courthouse, for several of the judges and mosi; of the county officials are taking the customary holiday.

Judge Westmoreland was asked, yesterday morning, to hear a habeas corpus case.

An effort was made to secure the release of J. H. Farmer, who was arrosted and lodged in the station house last Monday. The arrest was made on a letter from B. H. Collier, sherriff of Jackson county, who stated that Farmer was charged with horse stealing.

Mr. Howell Erwin represented the petitioner, who was placed on the witness stand in Judge Westmoreland's court. The prisoner told his story with much emotion, and professed contrition of spirit. He admitted that before coming to Atlanta he was a "wild boy" and had sowed his wild oats, "but," said he, "I have reformed, and am now leading an upright life. I have united with the church and expect to live right."

Farmer declared that he never committed the their charged against him.

After hearing the matter Judge Westmoreland decided that he would refuse to grant the petition for Farmer's release, so the prisoner was taken back to prison.

The Steel for the Forsyth Street Bridge Coming—Other Bridges.

Mr. Turner, chairman of the bridge committee, and Mr. Rice and Mr. McBride, his associates, are happy. So is Mayor Hemphill. An invoice of the first shipment of steel for the Forsyth street bridge was received at the city hall, and the material will be here today. Another invoice will reach Atlanta today, and a second shipment will arrive tomorrow.

The material now coming is that which was contracted for this year, and the bills will amount to abou twenty thousand dollars. It is some of the heaviest pieces used in the construction of the bridge, and by the middle of next week the contractor will be putting it in place.

The balance of the mate rial will arrive as fast as it is needed in the construction of the bridge.

The Humphreys Street Bridge.

The bridge committee yesterday began investigating the Humphreys street bridge over the East Tennessee road.

The committee is not at all pleased with the bridge and will prepare a report to the general council before the next regular meeting.
"Too many lives have been lost by that bridge," said Mr. Turner, chairm an of the committee, "and a new bridge wouldn't hurt anyhow."

The Bell Street Bridge. The architects, designers and engineers have completed their survey and examination of the Bell street bridge.

The committee now knows just what is needed and tomorrow the repairing work, so badly needed, will be commenced.

THE SOCIETY EVENTS OF YESTERDAY

And Some That Take Place in the Near Future-Gossip About Atlantians and Their Friends.

The library party given by the Misses Harwood to Miss Hazard last evening was one of the most unique and brilliant affairs imaginable. It was something so entirely out of the usual order of social gatherings that it seemed to create a go and spirit sufficient to last as an impetua to all the affairs to follow.

Mr. Clarence Knowles was librarian and his stricted with red devergess shows to charming admired the second of the second o original wit and cleverness shone to charming ad-vantage in his apt quotations and remarks when giving out the books.

Many exquisite costumes were worn on the occasion, and some of the young men and women who chose to disguise themselves thoroughly created a great deal of mystery and had some funny revelations to make when time for unmasking arrived.

When the guests had all arrived the girls stood

THANKING ATLANTA.

Mayor Andrews, of Chattanooga, Writes Atlanta's Chief Executive. All Chattanooga feels grateful to Atlanta,

All Chattanooga feetis grateful to Atlanta,
And Mayor Andrews, of that thriving Tennessee city, has written Mayor Hemphill, expressing the thanks of the people who live along the banks of the Tennessee to the open-hearted folks residing near the banks of the Chattahooche.

Saturday last when Chattanooga's destruction seemed so imminent, Mayor Andrews telegraphed Mayor Hemphill for assistance. In ten minutes a company of Atlanta's firemen was ready to start for Chattanooga on a special train.

But the fire had been controlled and Chief Joyner did not go.

Mayor Andrews thinks Atlanta was extremely kind in offering the assistance and yesterday sent Mayor Hemphill this letter:

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., December 28, '91.—To the Hon, W. A. Hemphill, Mayor Atlanta, Ga. My Dear Sir: It gives me pleasure to express the profound gratitude of the people of Chittanooga and myself for your generous response to our call for aid during last Saturday's terrible fire.

I will lay the matter promptly before our city council at its first meeting in order that public recognition may be made.

If any expense was incurred by your fire department in their preparation to assist us, please forward bill of same to me, so that I may lay it before our board of mayor and aldermen. Yours very respectfully.

CARNETT ANDREWS, Mayor.

WHILE HE WAS RESISTING ARREST

For Highway Robbery-The Coroner's Jury Exonerated Looney and Com-mended His Conduct.

Ches Pace, a negro man, was shot and instantly killed by Detective D. S. Looney about 9 o'clock yesterday morning while resisting ar-

Coroner Davis impaneled a jury during the forenoon, who, after hearing the testimony of the four negro witnesses to the shooting and the officers, found a verdict to the effect that it was justifiable homicide. It was a case of close quarters where the officer had to kill or Detective McConnell, who was with Looney, had a narrow escape with his life while en-gaged in a tussle with Pace before the encounthat ended in the latter's death.

Yesterday morning Mr. G. W. Harper, a well-known young business man, called at police headquarters and gave the details of an exciting encounter he had had with a negro highwayman, on the previous night, in which he had been robbed of his watch and money. He said he recognized the negro, and felt satisfied he could identify him if he could be found. The robbery took place on Whitehall street.

Detectives Looney and McConnell were as signed to the case. They started out in search signed to the case. They started out in search of the negro, accompanied by Mr. Harper. From certain circumstances connected with the case, the officers had reason to believe that Pace, whom they believed to be the man, was hiding in the neighborhood of Teitlebuam's alley. They went down the alley, asking in different houses about their man. Finally the two officers got separated, searching either side of the alley.

Mr. Harper went with McConnell into a house to inquire about Pace, not thinking about finding him there. When they got in they found a man beating and choking a woman. Their entrance attracted his attention and he ceased his assault and turned his face towards the visitors. The moment the young man saw the negro's face he exclaimed:

"There is the man that robbed me."

At this the negro attempted to run, but Detective McConnell grabbed him and told him to be quiet as he was under arrest.

"I will die and go to hell before I will be rested," said the negro as his brutish ce flushed with passion. At e same time he reached down grab an iron freight car brake stick. McConnell, seeing the negro's motions, realized his danger and jerked him backward. The two men clinched, and in a rough and tumble tussie both fell out into the yard.

tumble tussle both fell out into the yard.

In the encounter Pace got hold of the iron stick. McConneil is a large muscular man and quite an athlete, but the negro, who was a powerful fellow, was too much for him. When the two struck the yard, Detective Looney, who had just stepped out of another house, saw the struggle, and, realizing that McConnell was in great danger, ran to the scene.

Looney then drew his revolver and demanded the negro's surrender. He reiterated that he would die and go to a hotter clime before he would be arrested, at the same time springing into position to strike Looney

Seeing his own life was in danger, Looney brought his revolver to the level of Pace's head and fired, the ball entering the skull about the base of the brain. Pace fell and died within thirty seconds without a struggle.

There were four negro eye-witnesses to the shooting, and each one on oath corroborated the statements made by the officers.

Pace's body was taken to Howard's undertaking establishment and turned over to his friends.

Pace's record is a bad one. He was known to be one of the most desperate negroes in Atlanta. He was wanted on more than a half dozen charges of larceny and robbery.

Detective Looney, who did the shooting, is considered one of the safest and most conservative officers in the department, and it was only when he had to shoot or die that he fired

The Southern Rice Market Waiting for Increased Demand.

SAVANNAH, Ga., December 29.—[Special.]—The rice men do not expect a change in the condition of the market before well into January, and would not be surprised if it did not come before Feb-ruary. The supply on hand, despite the fact that the crop was a small one, is much larger than it the crop was a small one, is much larger than it was last year. This is due to the large amount of foreign rice which was run into the country before the increased tariff went into effect, and which keeps down both the demand for the domestic product and the prices. REAL ESTATE NOTES By Sam'l W. Goode & Co.

"HOW IS REAL ESTATE?" we are asked every day. We presume people ask us this because they think we know the market and the outlook. So we ask those interested in real estate to consider the following facts which make Atlanta real estate not only a safe but a paying investment:

sider the following facts which make Atlanta real estate not only a safe but a paying investment:

18. Atlanta will soon have a most abundant supply of water through her new waterworks, and this will largely increase her manufacturing industries, and, consequently, her population. Increased population neans larger demands for homes and business places, and this makes an increased demand for real estate.

2d. The Georgia, Carolina and Northern railroad will soon enter the city, and this will be a great system, bringing increased business and more people, and this will be a continuing influence to build up Atlanta.

3d. The Equitable building, the Kiser law building, the McDonald building, the Kiser law building, the McDonald building on Whitehall, the Brady-Miller mammoth stables, the new Peachtree opera house, the new Peachtree Collier hotel, the ten-story Venable building, the new Grant building, the new Franklin printing building, the great Forsyth street Venable stables, the beautiful Masonic temple, the large Evening Journal building, the mammoth new building for the Conklin tin manufactory, the large Davis manufactory on Marietta street, and the scores of very costly homes, new building and soon to be begun, show a solidity of growth such as Atlanta never had before, and the above is but a partial list. ides the above named great establish but a partial list.

4th. Besides the above named great establishments, scores and hundreds, yes thousands, of moderate business houses and homes are going up now and will be completed in 1892.

5th. Go where you will in and about the city, streets and sidewalks are being graded and paved, hills leveled down and valleys filled, street car lines are being established and extended, sewers laid, and substantial, permanent improvements being made.

4th. Atlanta's education I facilities are constantly brimproved. New public school buildings are added every year, teachers are better trained and the school system is always being made more perfect. Numerous excellent private schools are constantly being opened, and special native French and German teachers are doing successful work here. Musical conservatories and art studios, medical and law and technical schools, lecture courses, business celleges for telegraphy, stenography and the like, and indeed, special institutions for all the sciences, art and literature, are already in operation here and increasing in number, and all have their influences in attracting people to the city, and this influences the enhancement of real estate.
